Course Description:

DNCE 508 is provided by the Extended Studies Division of the University of Northern Colorado as a professional development opportunity for dance educators and other types of educators. Professional development opportunities are provided by attendance at the in-person Colorado Dance Education Organization (CoDEO) Conference, an annual event. The goal of attendance at the CoDEO conference is to provide opportunities to update skills and knowledge in terms of dance education and movement-based content and curricula. This course will require educators to attend the annual CoDEO conference sessions designed specifically for movement and dance teachers and the dance performances presented during the conference.

Those receiving UNC credit will also be expected to attend the performance on day one and closing performance at the end of the second day. The monitor for each session will initial the educator attendance sheet as evidence of attending a session or performance.

Objectives:

Following the conclusion of the conference, participants will write a short paper that includes the following content:

1. In general, propose how you plan to integrate the knowledge gained at the annual CoDEO conference with your current classroom practices.
2. Describe a specific lesson example of how knowledge gained at the annual conference has been integrated or will be integrated into your current classroom practices.
3. Explain how you will share knowledge gained at the conference with colleagues or fellow teachers.

Course Requirements:

1. Attend two full days of the annual CoDEO Conference (January 27 & 28, 2024) to receive 1 graduate semester credit.
